

Adam Bałdych / Daniele di Bonaventura / Jacob Karlzon / Michel Benita – „Endless”

Adam Bałdych - violin
Daniele di Bonaventura - bandoneon
Jacob Karlzon - piano
Michel Benita - d.bass

The new quartet led by Adam Bałdych – one of the most original violinists on the global jazz scene – brings together outstanding stars of European jazz in a contemplative journey through the musical heritage of the Old Continent. It is a musical story one wants to listen to endlessly.

“Endless” is the title of the album planned for release in 2026 by four stars of the improvised music scene, whose work helps shape the face of contemporary jazz. For this new project, Bałdych invited three extraordinary artists: Italian bandoneonist Daniele di Bonaventura, Swedish pianist Jacob Karlzon, and French double bassist Michel Benita.

Each of them brings a richly colored musical world, and together, in dialogue, they create a beautiful sonic landscape that invites endless listening.

Bałdych draws his inspiration from Renaissance polyphony and the modern pulse of contemporary classical music, never losing his jazz spirit of freedom and discovery.

The meeting of this new quartet results in music rooted in silence, yet full of contrast – moments of tranquility alternate with emotional tension, while virtuosic improvisations and experiments shape a modern narrative. This is music that doesn't just tell a story – it listens: to space, to history, and to one another.
